We find ourselves at a crossroads. Blues meets Boogie Woogie and Country meets Jazz. Four of the nation's most outstanding musicians have decided to travel a new road together. At the wheel we have an offroad specialist for whom no path is too steep. It is none less than ROBERT SHUMY, who has been kicking up dust with his voice and guitar for the past 25 years. Probably the most robust undercarriage that has ever been built bears the name of PETER STRUTZENBERGER. With him on the bass, no turn is too sharp. The drums of FLORIAN TUCHACEK's 4 cycle motor have endless cylinder capacity, he manages sensational speeds on relatively low fuel consumption. The turbo boost, powered by laughing- rather than nitro gas, which propels this unique vehicle into space, comes from the noble forge of CHRISTIAN SANDERA, on harp. Occasionally also on the road as a trio formation. So how about it? Fancy a joyride?
